

CASE STUDY

Project: Crown Transformation Programme
 Client: Post Office Ltd
 Value: £13m over 4 phases
 Location: Nationwide

I have worked with Adrian Adams and his incredible team on numerous Post Office refits over the last 2 years. The entire team is enthusiastic and pro-active whilst always operating as a collaborative unit. One particular skill I have always admired in Adrian is his ability to work out the complex phasing of projects, taking into account both the construction elements and operational requirements of the branches. I was not at all surprised to learn that Adrian's performance on this framework earned him a Construction Manager of the Year Finalist place in 2014.

Paul Mead, Director, APM Retail Ltd

Post Office Ltd's Crown Transformation Programme shows what can be achieved in remarkably short periods of time when all parties approach a project with an over-riding spirit of collaboration. To plan, price and complete a programme of such quality and size whilst working entirely out-of-hours is pioneering and demanded a seamlessly integrated team of like-minded individuals working together. Shaylor Group carried out approximately 130 projects in 4 phases and were the only SME appointed to the framework. The projects were of a fast-track nature, with all works undertaken on a phased and out of hours basis to enable branches to remain trading during the projects. From the first site to the last, the entire project team worked together to capture and then recycle lessons learnt. The projects took us across the country and saw us complete branches in the North, South West, South East and London.

Building a better future

Working to WRAP guidelines Shaylor Group diverted 97% of our construction phase waste from landfill

Material change for a better environment

